Growing Challenges

Healthcare organizations are challenged to keep up with the never-ending demand for reports from their Cerner database.

- Requests for information go beyond the standard packaged reports
- Requests come from multiple departments on a regular and ad-hoc schedule
- Complex reports require expert skills to complete in a timely manner
- Need for CCL resources can be unpredictable
- Short-term experienced CCL resources can be difficult to find and expensive

Our Approach

Huntzinger's CCL Experts can be available on a temporary basis for short-term urgent needs and on a long-term ongoing basis. We can craft an option that meets your volume and frequency needs to effectively support your organization.

Our report writing development process ensures the quality, consistency and timeliness of requested reports. We have adapted the industry standard System Development Life Cycle (SDLC) model.

In addition, a Request Specification Document (RSD) is used to capture information through each phase, which incorporates the proper check and balances for transparency and feedback to the requesting department.

Benefits

- Experienced CCL experts to avoid costly rework and startup cost.
- CCL report capability available on demand or as a pre-determined volume and schedule based on the needs of the healthcare organization.
- Cost-effective sourcing.
